Cast of Ten Little Indians poses before the opening night curtain.

Junior Class presented Agatha Christie's classic murder mystery "Ten Little Indians" under the direction of Mr. Tom Sprague, April 25, 26.

The play starts seemingly innocent enough when eight strangers come together, by invitation, to spend their summer holiday on an island guesthouse off the coast of Devon, England. A telegram has been sent by the host and hostess informing the house party that they will not arrive until the next day.

However, before the guests can become too settled a strange voice, out of nowhere, accuses each person there with the murder of someone out of his or her past.

Next the group is informed that no one there, including the housekeepers or the secretary, have met the hosts. Almost immediately one guest, a spoiled young man of great wealth, is poisoned and dies in the midst of everyone.

Then one by one the accused guests begin to die. Hunting the unknown murderer, the houseguests search the island and find no one else. But there is something much more complicated to these murders than meets the eye. They all seem to fit in with the "Ten Little Indians" nursery rhyme that is hung above the fireplace.

Mr. Ron Jinks was the Choral Director, Mr. Tom Sprague, Technical Director, Mrs. Alice Longworth directed the musical and Lana Smith was Student Director.

Accompanists were Miss Barb Linder, Mrs. Lois Vanderstelt, Mrs. Lela Ewing and Miss Ricki Slattery.

The cast was responsible for their costumes and the surrey is the property of Mr. Raber. It was the same one that was used in the production of OKLAHOMA in 1963.

OKLAHOMA became a state in 1907, approximately the time of this play which is set on a farm in the territory of Oklahoma, and is peopled with cowboys, farmers, and their wives and sweethearts.

A homely story of the pleasures and pains of the early settlers, generously sprinkled with many of Rodgers and Hammerstein's beautiful songs, including "Oh What a Beautiful Morning" and "Surrey With the Fringe on Top."

Will and Cord Elam watch as Curly and Laurey step into the surrey with the fringe on the top as the musical comes to an end.

Concert Band Is Heard Over Radio

French horns practice in anticipation of contest.

Hicksville High School Band presented on Dec. 17 a Christmas Concert that was broadcast over Radio Station WIFF on Christmas Day.

On Dec. 21 Diane Guilford, Dennis Durre, Cheryl Conley and Barb Linder played their saxophones for the Crippled Children at a Christmas Dinner held at the American Legion Building.

On March 13 the band held a concert for the student body as their part in the nationwide observance of "Music in our Schools Day."

John Bailey on the saxophone and Brenda Parker on the bass clarinet were seniors who joined the concert band for the first time.

March 22 proved to be a successful day for the band as they received an excellent rating at band contest. It was held at Anthony Wayne High School.

The band's last concert was held April 20 and it honored all the seniors.

Twenty seniors made up the 1975 Hixonian staff advised by Mrs. Margaret McAdams.

Preparing copy, designing layouts and meeting deadlines kept the staff busy. Photographer Robb Holt was always on the run taking pictures of various activities around the school.

Co-Editors Sue Barkman, Rick Mettert and Diane Guilford attended a one week yearbook workshop at Morehead Univ., Morehead, Kentucky during the summer. They were able to catch up on the latest trends and ideas for the yearbook design. During this week the cover was designed and the division pages were planned.

During the early part of the school year, the entire staff attended a one-day yearbook clinic at Napoleon.

Deb Keller, represented the yearbook staff at 4-Co. by taking the pictures for that section and getting copy.

The theme was taken from the Senior Class Song "We May Never Pass This Way Again".

Wendy Pearson and Paul Greutman decide which picture to use for the yearbook.

Dorothy Leslie keeps the filing system up to date.

With not much experience under their belts the young gridders faced a bitter season. Finishing with a 0 and 5 record seems discouraging, but the Junior High Aces are anxious for next season to arrive. Coaches this year were Bill Shepard and Tom Sprague.

Under the direction of Coach Scott Cromwell the Freshmen had a good season posting a 3 and 1 record. Two shutouts were included in this year's play with each player itching to break into J.V. and Varsity rank next year.

Even though Coach Cromwell started the season with only a seven member team, each week proved better as more players turned out for practice. At the season's close, 18 men filled out a fine team and a fine record.

Coaches look on as they anxiously await the referee's decision.

Jim Brown cheers on as another victory is recorded by an Ace grappler.

Varsity Wrestling team garnered a successful season, being such a young, but fast growing sport.

Finishing with a 5-7 record, the Aces posted wins over Hilltop, Ayersville, Paulding and Stryker twice.

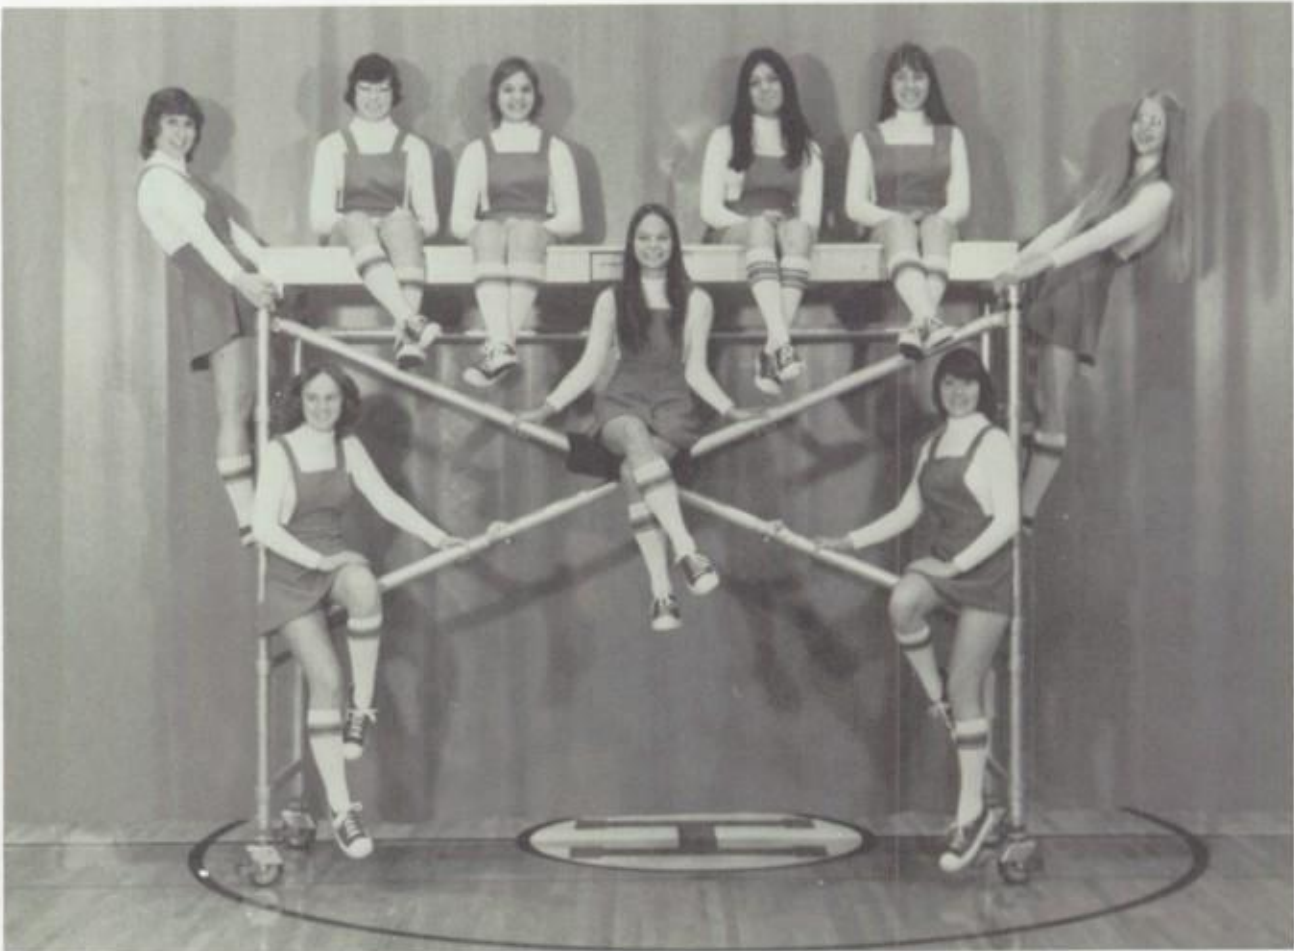

Finishing fourth in the Buckeye Border Conference was a great accomplishment as it is one of the tougher conferences to compete in.

Grapplers Dave Johns in the 155 pound weight class and Mike Wright at 98 pounds advanced to District after winning at Sectionals.

Two to State in Varsity Track

Along with the thrill of victory comes a little agony as Tim Thiel sits in the Whirlpool.

No matter how hard it hurts Dave Cleland knows he must go on.

Along with winning as a team, this season proved very fruitful for several individuals.

Seven records were broken: High jump, Dave Brown; Long Jump Tim Thiel; High Hurdles, Steve Dowell; Mile Run, Dave Cleland; Low Hurdles, Steve Dowell; 2 mile run, Dave Cleland, and the mile relay, Tim Thiel, Steve Dowell, Dave Cleland, and Tim Brown.

These 5 men advanced to district with Dowell and Cleland qualifying for state placing 4th in low hurdles and 12th in the mile run, respectively.

Team efforts were also rewarded highly, placing 13th out of 63 teams in the Blade Relays; 4th out of 16 teams in the Ayersville Inv.; 2nd GMC; 3rd BBC; 4th in sections.

Pole Vaulter Dave Leavell goes up to clear another few inches.

This summer the varsity cheerleaders went to camp and came home with many honors. Kacee Craig placed 1st in individual competition and the scrapbook placed 1st, also. There were other major awards received, too.

With team co-captains Susan Whonsetler and Pam Zimmerman the squad went to National competition in August at Lansing, Michigan. There the Scrapbook took first in the nation and Kacee Craig brought home fourth.

This year there was a new addition to the squad — male cheerleaders to help with mounts. This was a major addition to the team and gave much of a lift to the players.

The reserve cheerleaders were busy, too. Under the captainship of Janie Hayes, the girls went to camp and accompanied the varsity squad at the Nationals. They also helped make signs, cheer during varsity and reserve games, sell suckers, help with coat checks, and run the concession stands.

FRONT ROW: Cheryl Hanna, Joel Taylor, Mrs. Margaret McAdams, Rhonda Fritz, Michelle Panasuk.

Among President Taylor's duties will be to head the State Convention and to choose club of month entries.

Officers for the 1975-74 Junior Classical League were: President: Joel Taylor, Vice President: Rhonda Fritz, Secretary-Treasurer: Michelle Panasuk, and Reporter: Cheryl Hanna. Meetings were held the first Tuesday of every month.

JCL Club had a very busy and active year. The first activity was initiation of freshmen members. The freshmen all breathed a sigh of relief when this was finally over.

Other activities included Saturnalia — the annual Christmas party. A gift exchange and games took place along with the crowning of King Mitch Panasuk, Queen Lana Smith, Prince Ken Speed, and Princess Nancy Applegate. The club also sponsored the WOWO Penny Pitch and took gifts to Fountain Manor.

In February everyone helped to make Valentines for the Rest Home patients. March brought the highlight of the entire year — Latin Convention, held in Columbus, Ohio. The club entered in many contests. Mrs. McAdams and Robb Holt were in charge of the Quiz Bowl. Due to icy roads and snow the entire club could not attend, but despite this the convention still turned out a success. Joel Taylor ran for President and was elected for the 1975-76 year. This was the highest office of the entire Convention.

The club was also informed that the paper that was published by Robb Holt received a first-place ribbon during the summer at National Convention.

The year was brought to a close by the Roman Banquet, held in May. The incoming Latin freshmen served the meal with everyone dressed in Roman-style.

Under the direction of Mrs. Shari Miller, the Spanish Club proved interesting for the year 1974-75.

Moneymaking projects included car washes, bake sales, the sales of Rex All-Purpose Cleaner and Reese Cups.

Many club members attended the Christmas party, Valentine's party, and swimming party.

Seniors Laura Meyer, Barb Linder, Carol Tonneas, Dolores Camp and eleven other students took a trip to Mexico sponsored by the Hicksville and Edgerton High Schools. To raise money for the trip, they performed various jobs.

To highlight the year, Brenda Speiser and Kay McGough were selected as winners of the scholarship to Mexico. The annual banquet was held at the end of the year.

Officers for the year were President: Barb Linder, V. President: Rick Mettert, Secretary: Lynette Wittig, Treasurer: Kay Handy, Photographer: Guy Mackling and Reporter: Mary Lou Whonsetler.

Home Ec Prepares Girls for the Future

HOME EC CLUB: ROW 1: Cindy Timbrook, Becky Luderman, Peggy Stultz, Marina Ariza, Anna Fuentes, Trudi Simpkins, Dorinda Russell, Hope Fuentes, Advisor — Mrs. Miller.

Regular meeting night for the Home Ec Club this year was the first Tuesday of each month at 7:00.

Goals set for the members included self-improvement, school service and community service.

In their self-improvement program, a forms of cancer and health precautions were discussed with emphasis on breast cancer for women.

One of their community projects was to canvas Precinct A for the cancer drive.

Social affairs for the year included Christmas dessert and gift exchange.

Volunteens Contribute to Community

This year, the Volunteens elected Cindy Cline as president. With the help of Miss Harriet Bice as advisor, the group, consisting of 11 new members, helped at blood banks, the hospital and Fountain Manor. They also took up a contribution to the memorial fund for Mr. Schmunk, Director of Defense Red Cross, who passed away in April.

Other activities consisted of making new uniforms and helping with FISH papers.

There are 3 out of town members and students from the high school and junior high. Help at Fountain Manor started on April 1. A new program was begun so that junior high student council work at the hospital.

The group put in a total of 288 hours from September through April.

NHS Sends Mouse to College

National Honor Society announced 21 new members during their induction ceremony on April 10. Mr. Robert Breisinger, principal of Fairview High School, was the guest speaker. The student body attended the ceremony and parents were invited.

In order to be considered for NHS a student had to have at least a 3.25 point average. The students were then evaluated on a point basis by teachers who had them in class and by members of the society who knew them. These point evaluations were averaged and considered, along with participation in clubs and service groups, by the committee of faculty members who made the final selection.

For a community service the society sponsored the "Send a Mouse to College" fund drive of the American Cancer Society. Members took contributions during the lunch hour on April 24-29.

Officers for 1974-75 were President: Anne Kirby; Vice-President: Dick Altman; Secretary: Judie Bruggeman; Treasurer: Laura Meyer.

FBLA Makes Mobiles for Shutins

Kathy Kares poses proudly in front of the FBLA emblem.

The Future Business Leaders of America club this year has been involved in making service projects and fund raising projects.

They raised money for activities, the club had a car wash in October. Then in December they made candy dishes out of crystalized ash-trays, and sold them for Christmas gifts.

The club, in December, made mobiles for the shut-ins in the community.

They also had a Christmas party at Chris Slattery's home which included a pot-luck dinner and Christmas Caroling afterwards.

In May they held their annual picnic at Defiance and the Seniors were given their pins.

HHS Students Are Involved in 4-Co. Clubs

SITTING: Dawn Dietz, Penny Miller. STANDING: Linda Haney, Gail Scott, Delores Bassett, Pat Handy.

OEA stands for Office Educational Association, and it is a national youth organization for business and office education students. Their national convention was in Chicago, May 2, 3, and 4. The state convention was held at Columbus and the Region 6 contest was held at Bowling Green State University. Dawn Dietz and Shirley Haase entered 4-County contest on February 9, 1975.

Their project for the year in leadership was "Spirit of '76 of OEA." OEA will be ten years old in 1976.

VICA stands for Vocational Industry of America. It consists of many different clubs and groups. Some of the main ones are Junior and Senior Cosmetology, Auto Body, Commercial Art, Junior and Senior Health Occupations.

Twyla Wonderly, a senior this year in cosmetology, reigned as VICA Queen. She also was second runner up in the regional contest.

The club members attended state convention April 18, 19. The purpose of this convention was to help them learn leadership and to learn how to become better citizens.

SITTING: Janet Timbrook, Pam Schooley, Ramona Beltz. STANDING: Brenda DeMuth, Deb Keller, Twyla Wonderly.

Steve Timbrook, Tim Miller, Rick Kimmel.

FFA (Future Farmers of America) had an exciting year as they participated in many events and fared well.

In the tractor trouble shooting contest they were champs in the District and eighth in the State.

March 17, was the car rodeo which lasted three days. This rodeo consisted of a written test, show of skills, and three obstacle courses. The skills contest had 130 students participating in agricultural mechanics within the 4 Co. School only.

Fifteen students were sent to state convention April 26. Finally the Annual Banquet was April 29.

Teachers Are Caught in Unguarded Moments

Our own Dennis Weaver.

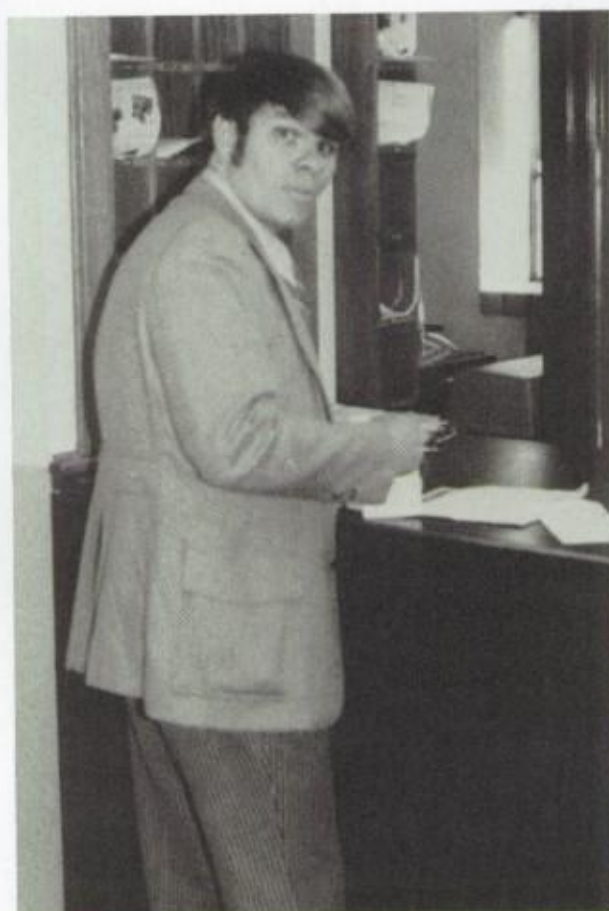

Just a normal day?

Pucker up!

My, how you have changed, Mr. Gerken.

Surprise, Mr. Hardy!

You deserve a break today.

Mr. Kurry gets a "peace" of the action.

You've used that excuse twice already.

Guess who?

Schools Rely on Behind-the-Scenes Personnel

Shirley Hinsch, Jean Bergman and Ruth Timbrook prepare the meals for the junior high and high school students.

Ardon Bauer, high school custodian, keeps busy cleaning the school.

Elementary school custodian Dan Fogle pauses during preparations to begin cleaning.

Grade school cooks are Emma Morhart, JoAnn Waltenberger, Barbara Thiel, Florence Rohrs. Pauline Haver is manager of both school cafeterias.

School bus drivers are: FRONT ROW: Jackie Zeedyk, Mary Minnig, Ethelinda Schliesser, Lenora Levy. BACK ROW: Galen Green, Denver Zeedyk and Kenneth Stoller.

Ralph Morhart drives the bus for 4-County Vocational School students.

Seniors

"Like Columbus in the olden days. We must gather all our courage. Sail our ships out on the open sea. Cast away our fears and all the years will come and go."

Marina Ariza Herrera was an exchange student throughout the 1974-75 school year. Marina was born in Barranquilla, Columbia. She is 19 and a senior. Her father (deceased) was a doctor and her mother is a teacher.

Marina likes Hicksville High School but feels the classes are more formal compared to those in Columbia. For example, the students are allowed to smoke during class in Columbia. She was surprised to find the dances here less formal and the music much different from the classical music back home. Marina thinks that the sports are the same in Columbia as they are here. She enjoys the American movies and feels that some of them have good themes.

Marina thinks that the people are different, especially in their customs. She said that she likes the people and that they are friendly.

Students Learn to Express Talents

This year's art classes were divided into two classes Art One and Art Two or Advanced Art.

Art One learned the basic skills of painting, ceramics, drawing and three dimensional work.

Advanced art did work in painting, ceramics, drawing and three dimensional work in greater depth as well as styrofoam molds.

They also made football helmets which they sold.

Junior High Art students learned to use art tools as they worked in the areas of painting, ceramics, and printing.

John Bailey melts Styrofoam in preparation of a sculpture.

Ann Wyatt enjoys working in Art II.

Kim Countryman finishes her daily work.

Bob Akerman attends to his project.

Chris Stickney adds finishing touches to her portrait.

Cora Mock paints a football helmet mirror.

Industrial Arts — A Place to Learn New Skills

Mike Scranton measures wood carefully.

Jack Burley inspects his work carefully.

In this year's Industrial Arts Classes, each class received training in research and designs. After designing and drafting the classes spent time in metals, woods, plastics, electrical, and aerospace.

The eleventh and twelfth grades worked on individual projects plus the mass production of coat hangers which they sold.

Kim Countryman operates the mimeograph machine.

Mrs. Cline shows John Battershell parts of the typewriter.

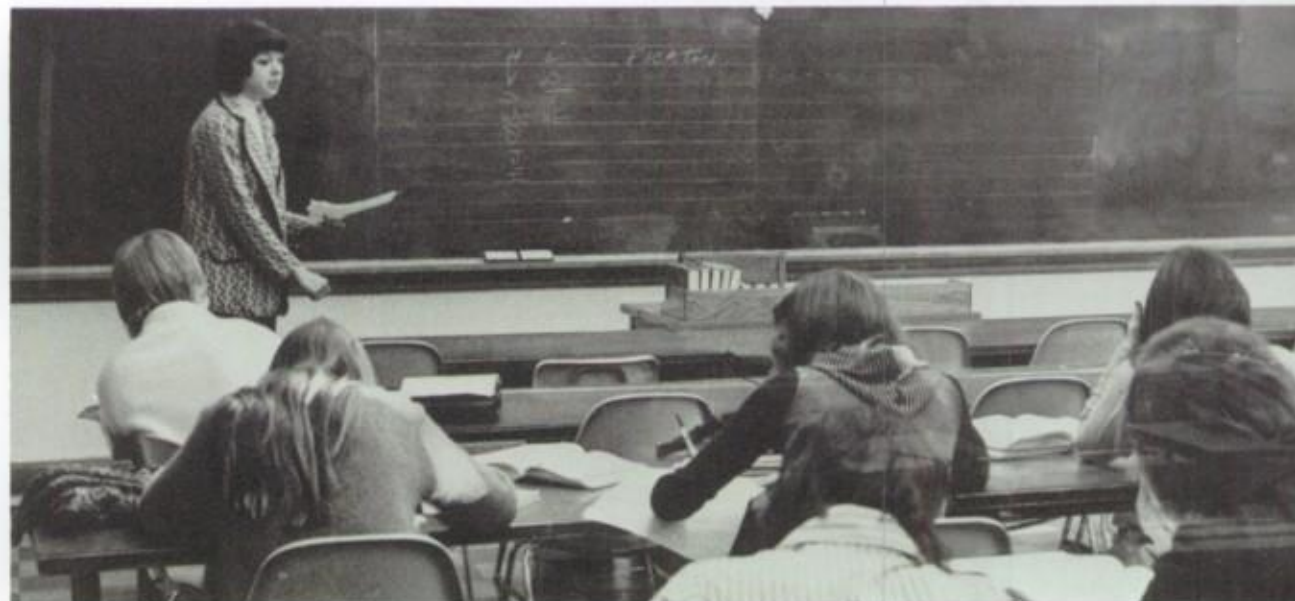

Cathy Walters and Janet Laux mimeograph papers.

Steve Dowell types his report for Research Writing.

Chris Walters learns different letter styles in Typing I.

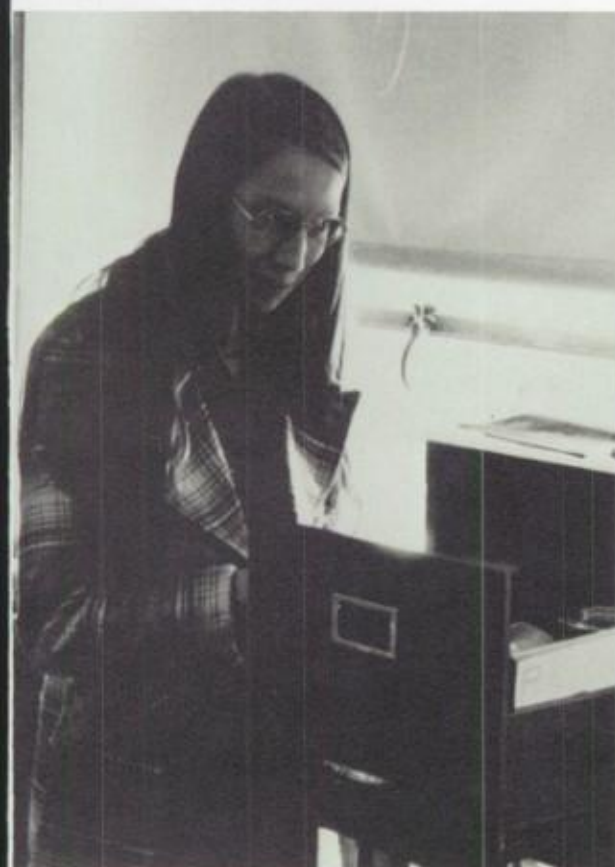

Mrs. Cline explains business symbols to students.

Business Students Learn New Skills For Future

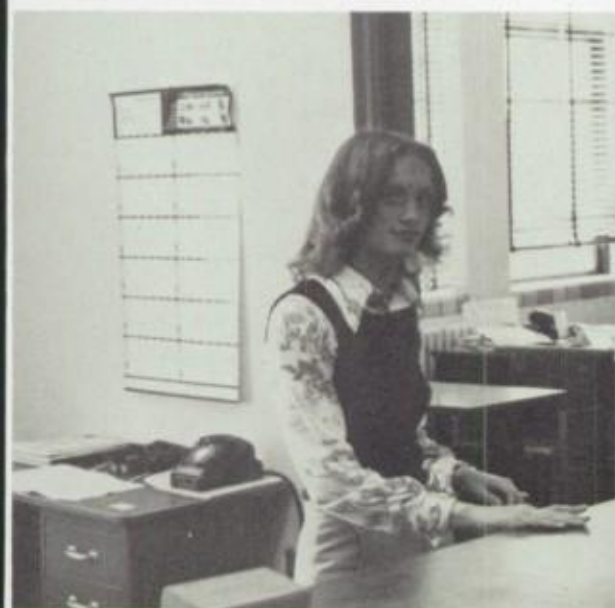

Randy Stuckey types makeup work for Typing I.

Susan Cottrell uses files for information.

Cindy Cline finds office work occupying.

Lori Lucas finds office work challenging.

Senior girls type grade cards for the teachers.

Many business courses were offered to prepare students for the business world. Typing I, II, general business, steno, clerical records, bookkeeping, office practice, and business math were the main business courses offered.

Such things as business letters, tabulated reports, and commercial forms were practiced in Typing I, II. Speed and accuracy were stressed to be attained.

General business gave students an introduction to business. The fundamentals of bookkeeping and business practices were emphasized.

Clerical records equipped students with basic vocational skills common to office jobs involving record keeping.

Dictation and transcription along with reading, plus the principles of shorthand were stressed in steno.

Double entry bookkeeping and practice in simple accounting for single proprietorship and partnership were taught in bookkeeping class. It developed skills necessary in the business field.

Business math provided arithmetic essential in most areas of business and in one's own personal affairs.

Knowledge and skill in the use of various office machines, office procedures and filing were taught in office practice. During the year, students worked for teachers and the office to give them experience in the office.

All business courses gave students good practice for working in the business fields after graduation.

English Reveals Many Expressions

HHS English Administration last year put together a successful English program. There were numerous subjects or courses to choose from. Mark Twain, Mythology, Science Fiction, and Shakespearean Comedy were just a few of the courses offered.

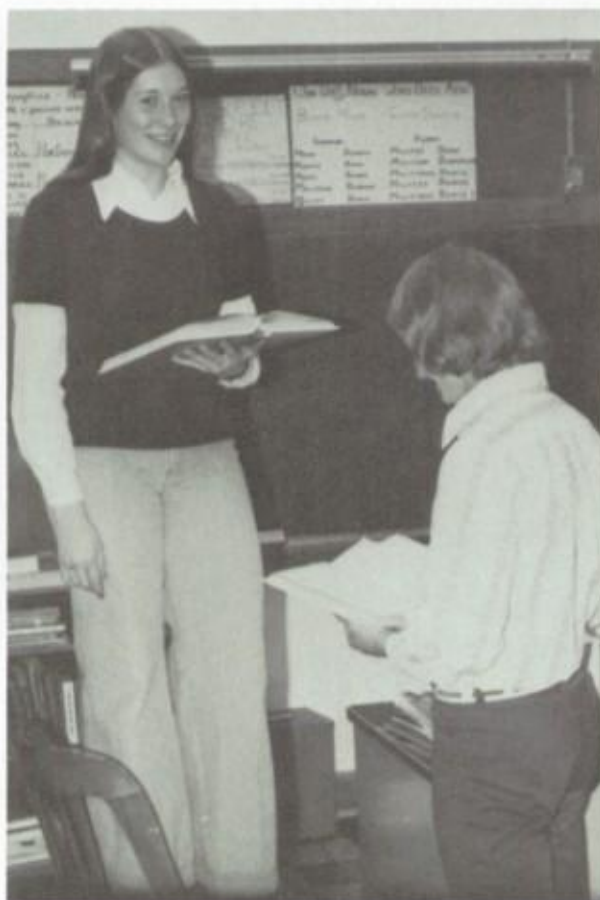

Mrs. McAdams, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Redden, Mrs. Rohrs, and Mrs. Whitacre used an informal type of class to relate better with the students. Though most of the courses were literature, grammar was being taught through the writing assignments. This type of class enlightened the students' outlook of learning.

HHS English department also encouraged students to become involved in the literary contests involving poetry, short stories and other writing abilities.

A literary magazine including original works of Hicksville students was published by the department in May.

Mrs. Redden gives advice to questioning students.

Mary Whonsetler as Juliet, Duane Cline as Romeo, do the famous balcony scene in ROMEO AND JULIET

Rick Mettert, one of the editors, lends a helping hand in Journalism II.

Library science gives new responsibilities to Dave Crowl and Alan Scott.

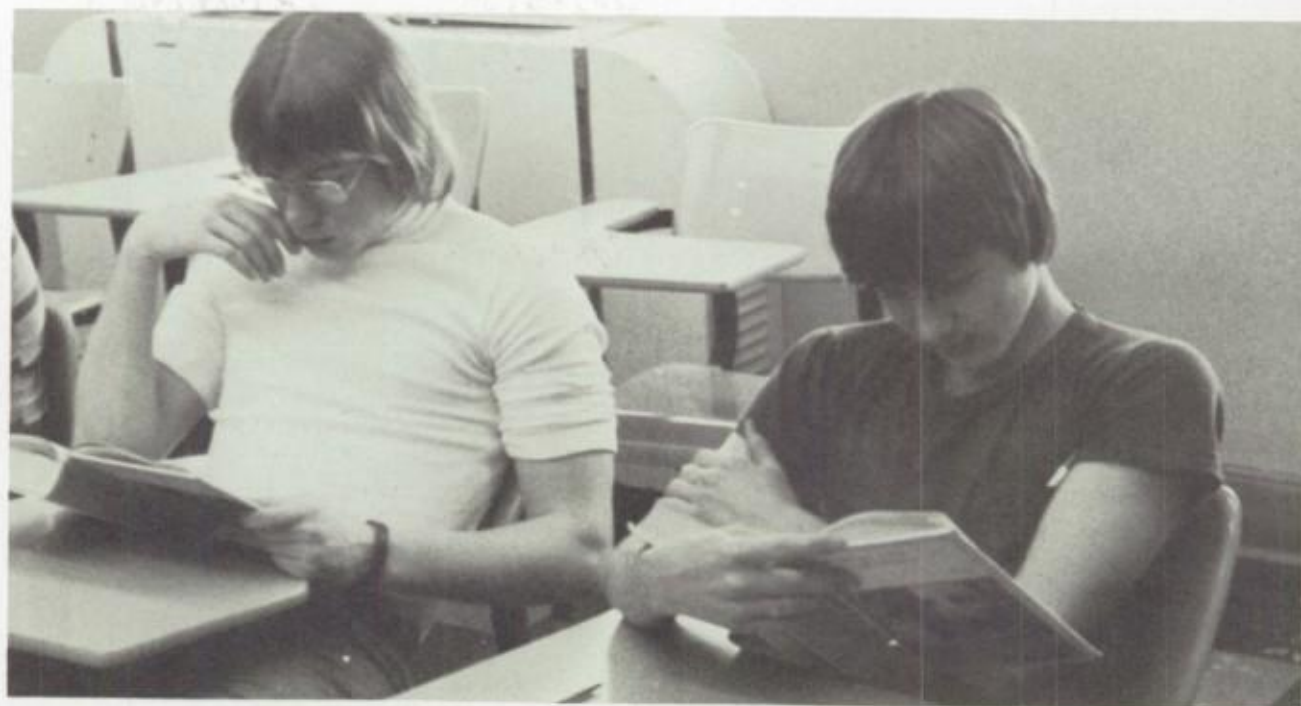

Cathy Walters asks questions concerning yearbook deadline.

Dave Brown and Jim Stimmel set up neighborhoods while participating in a simulation game within the City in Literature class.

Rick Whitacre and Brad Guilford study their freshman English.

Jim Husted, as Mercutio, dies in a scene from Romeo and Juliet.

Paul Greutman and Wendy Pearson discuss the plans for a layout.

Mrs. Whitacre helps Carol Tonneas in her independent classical novel class.

Many conferences are needed to put the yearbook together.

Bruce Essex presents his demonstration speech.

Spanish, Latin Students Find

Donna Pierce and Cindy Cline put up a display on the bulletin board.

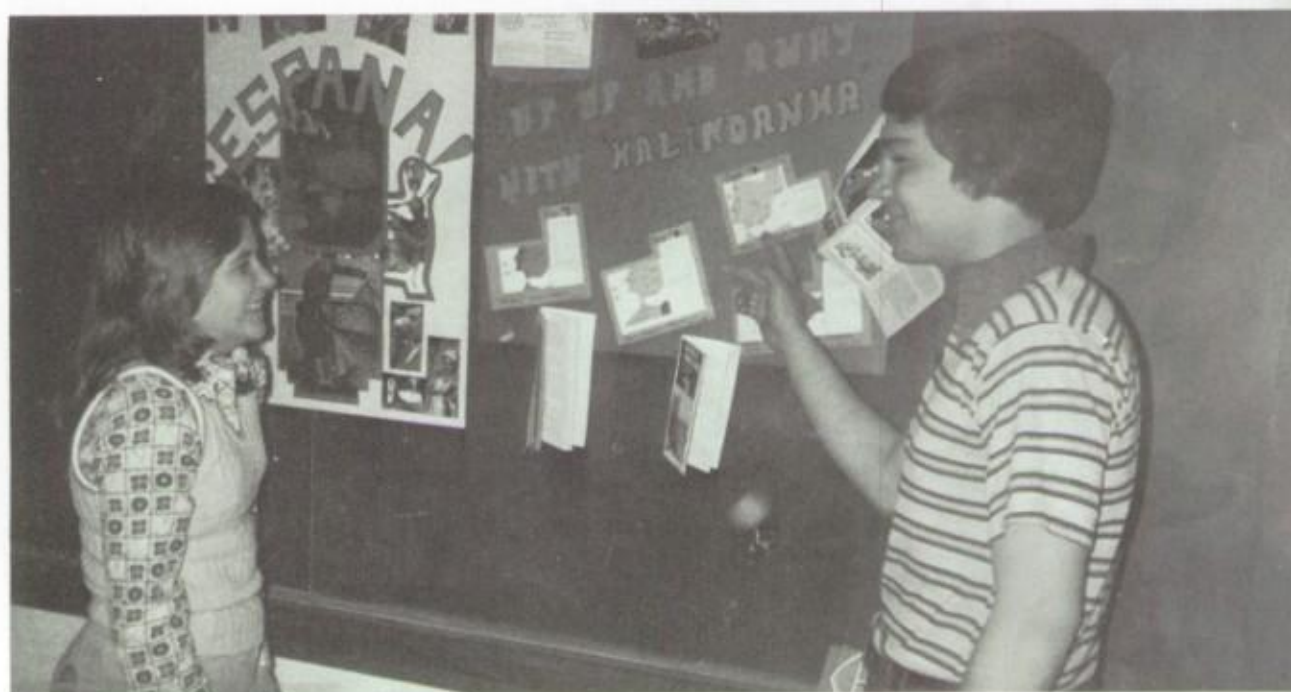

June Yoder spots a mistake in her poster.

Spanish I introduced students to the language and culture. Students practiced their Spanish by playing Scrabble and learned about the culture by collecting newspaper articles and reading books about Spanish-speaking countries.

In Spanish II students continued studying grammar and vocabulary. Latin American cultures were studied, and students polished their speaking skills by performing commercials in Spanish.

Spanish III students did many projects to increase their vocabularies and improve their fluency. During the year they gave how-to talks in Spanish, published a Spanish newspaper, and presented travel tours on several Spanish-speaking countries. Spain's culture was studied.

Linda Miller and Dan Turnbull explain their travel tour for Spain in Spanish III.

Kacee Craig industriously works on her scrapbook.

Caril Cherry is a slave on Spanish Club Initiation Day.

Foreign Languages Intriguing

Flash card drills help students to learn Latin quickly.

Kent Hayes prepares to answer a question.

Jim Wood compiles his Latin I notebook.

Latin II students translate in groups.

Latin is the most important part of all Romance languages and is offered for 2 years at HHS.

Latin I taught the student to read and write easy Latin. Roman civilization and culture was stressed and the basics of grammar and vocabulary taught.

Latin II offered more extensive experience in reading and writing Latin. Translation of stories and review of verb conjugations were an important part of Latin II.

Both classes were required to make Latin Notebooks. Mythology, civilization, .vatives, and advertising were a f topics included in the notebooks.

Latin II students ponder over an open-book test.

Music Program Begins in Elementary

In 5th grade, the students were tested for musical ability, for rhythm, and harmony, and were able to choose which instrument they wanted to play. During the beginner's period they had a test trial for 8-12 weeks and if a student was good enough Mr. Dull would place him in the 6th grade Cadet Band. Throughout the year the students learned fingering's and how to read music.

The Cadet Band had rehearsal once a week, and individual lessons once a week. They worked on improving their skills to play and read music. They also had two public concerts.

Junior High Band started in June. They learned to march and to follow marching instructions. During the school year they had band 2 mods — 3 days a week and 3 mods — 2 days a week.

High School band included Marching, Pep, Concert, and Stage Band.

Marching Band practiced twice a week in June and July. In June, the Majorettes were required to go to twirling Camp for a week. Then in August, Band Camp was held for a week in which the band prepared for the Defiance County Fair. During school, Marching Band practiced three mods each day of the week.

In 4th grade the students learned to play flute-o-phones from Mr. Junk's, instructor.

The 5th grade had a mixed chor and participated in two concerts. They learned how to read music and the scales.

The 6th grade had a mixed choir and girls' choir. They too, participated, in concerts and the Girls' Choir sang at the Grace Methodist Church and at Trinity United Methodist Church. They worked mainly on reading music throughout the year.

The Junior High Choir consisted of both a mixed and girl choir. They also sang at the Grace Methodist Church and at the Trinity United Church and also presented a Spring Assembly for the elementary school last year. They improved their ability to read music and learned to sing a variety of different songs.

The High School Choir also consisted of a mixed and Girls' Choir. They too, sang at the Grace Methodist Church and Trinity United Church and also the Catholic Church. They presented two concerts, which were open to the public and some of the students participated in the Solo Contest.

Chorus members practice for a concert.

Play it again Steve!

Jean Kares takes a rest from playing her flute.

Senior boys relax in chorus while waiting to practice their parts.

Mr. Dull checks out an instrument before the pep-session begins.

The drummers in Stage Band add a special touch during their haltime performance.

Sopranos hold stands to improve their voice quality.

Tom Turnbull concentrates on his music in Junior High Band.

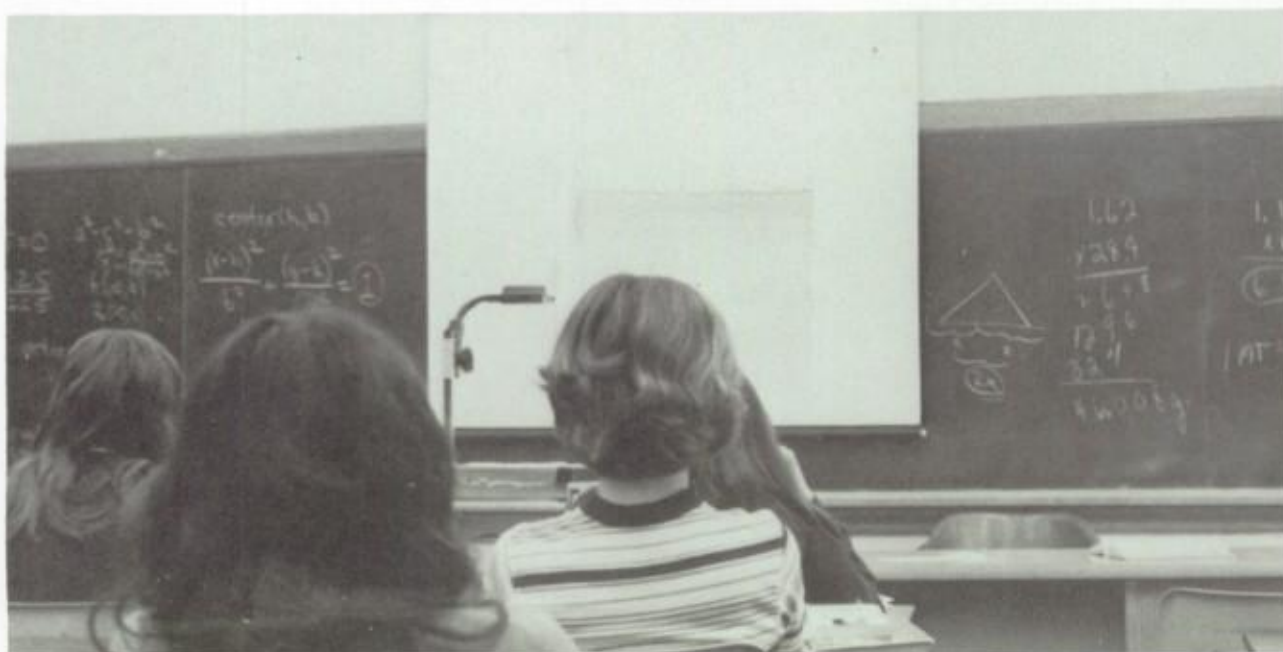

Randy Sweet concentrates on playing the drums.

Junior High girls express themselves in their music.

Math Classes Prepare Students for Metric Conversion

General math students study a problem by using the overhead projector.

Mr. Lee Peter stresses accuracy in metric conversion.

Mr. Dallas Thiel illustrates fraction reduction to his enthusiastic seventh graders.

Mr. John Fast and Craig Amaden debate the possibility of a metric table.

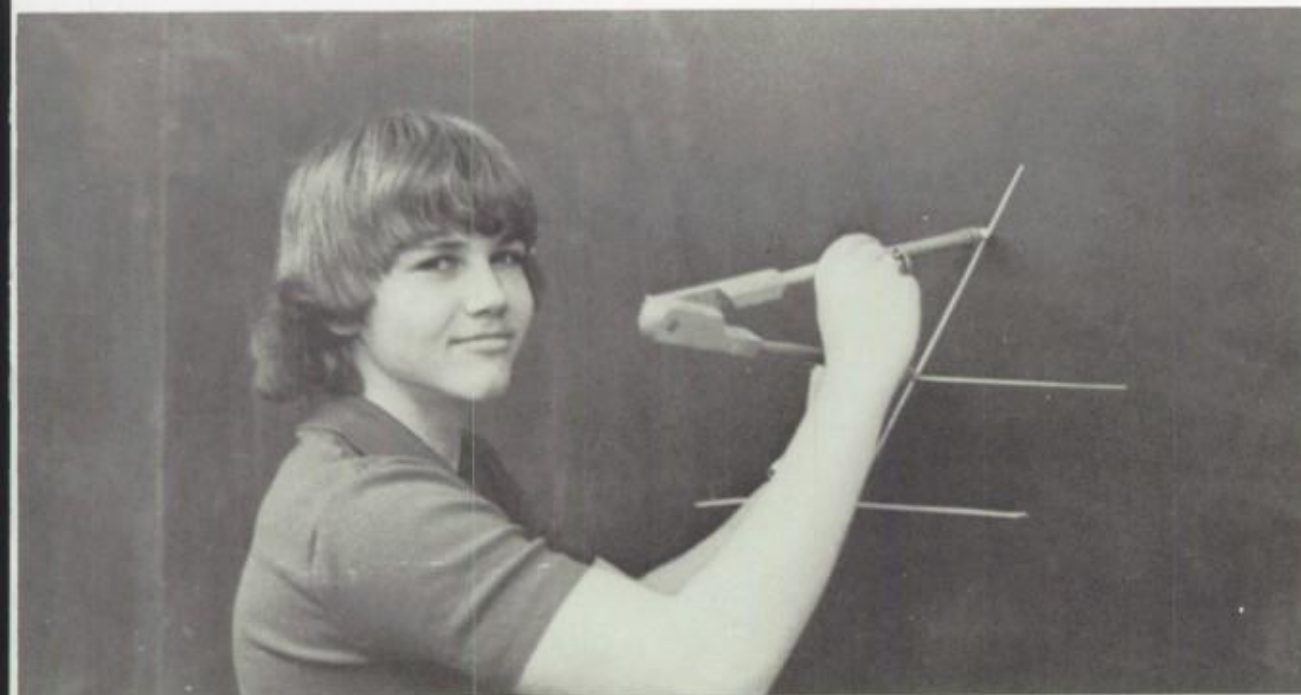

These Junior High math students listen attentively as a fellow class member asks a question.

This seventh grade girl finds her Silver Burdett Mathematics refreshingly different from other texts.

Steve Tonneas constructs angles on the board.

Dave Cleland and Jay Carr challenge each other at chess. The position of chessmen on the board form geometric patterns.

Jim Volkert works with the metric system.

Mr. Peter shows Bret Guilford how to work a Geometry problem.

Lori Tomlinson ponders a moment before answering a question in geometry.

Junior High students learned the fundamentals of math during their two years.

General math was a review of addition, subtraction, division, and multiplication through story problems. It was also an introduction to the basics of Algebra I.

In Algebra I, was a study of algebraic symbols, formulas, simple equations, geometric applications and ratio and proportions was taught to the students.

Second year algebra was an extension of Algebra I which presented the student with more complicated problems.

Geometry trained students in habits of expressing thoughts accurately and of reasoning correctly.

In trigonometry and analytic geometry, students worked with triangles and applied algebraic reasoning to geometric forms.

Students Become Involved in Social Studies

Social studies consisted of civics, geography and history. The instructors were Mr. George Cherry, Mr. Tom Hallett, Mr. Randy Hardy, and Mr. William Metz.

In civics the students were asked to prepare a term paper. The paper was to be at least eight pages long and on some function of government.

Junior high history prepared a project on anything in Ohio's past history. The students were given the last weeks of school to accomplish their project.

During the year American history turned in reports and worked on a civil war project. The students were also allowed to do independent studies.

In world history the students were asked to prepare a term paper on some event or part of history. The reports were to be eight pages long.

Geography consisted of the intense study of charts and maps. They also studied the environment of these places.

During the second semester, students in world history played a simulation game of the French Revolution. It started two years before with Louis XVI as king and continued until two years after.

During the course of the game, the students enacted Louis XVI and other heads of state and peasants. The peasants went through the real suffering of loss of land, money, property, and sometimes, heads.

After the revolutions, they had the trial of the heads of state and Louis and his court were guillotined.

The game ended with Napoleon coming to power with support of the peasants.

Mr. Hallett explains European policy to Patty Kaduk and Bryant Hinsch.

Bob Meyer and Monte McGough make projects to reconstruct the Civil War in American history.

Tim Congleton points out a poster made in American History.

Byron Panasuk and Chris Bailey look over the new Bulletin Board.

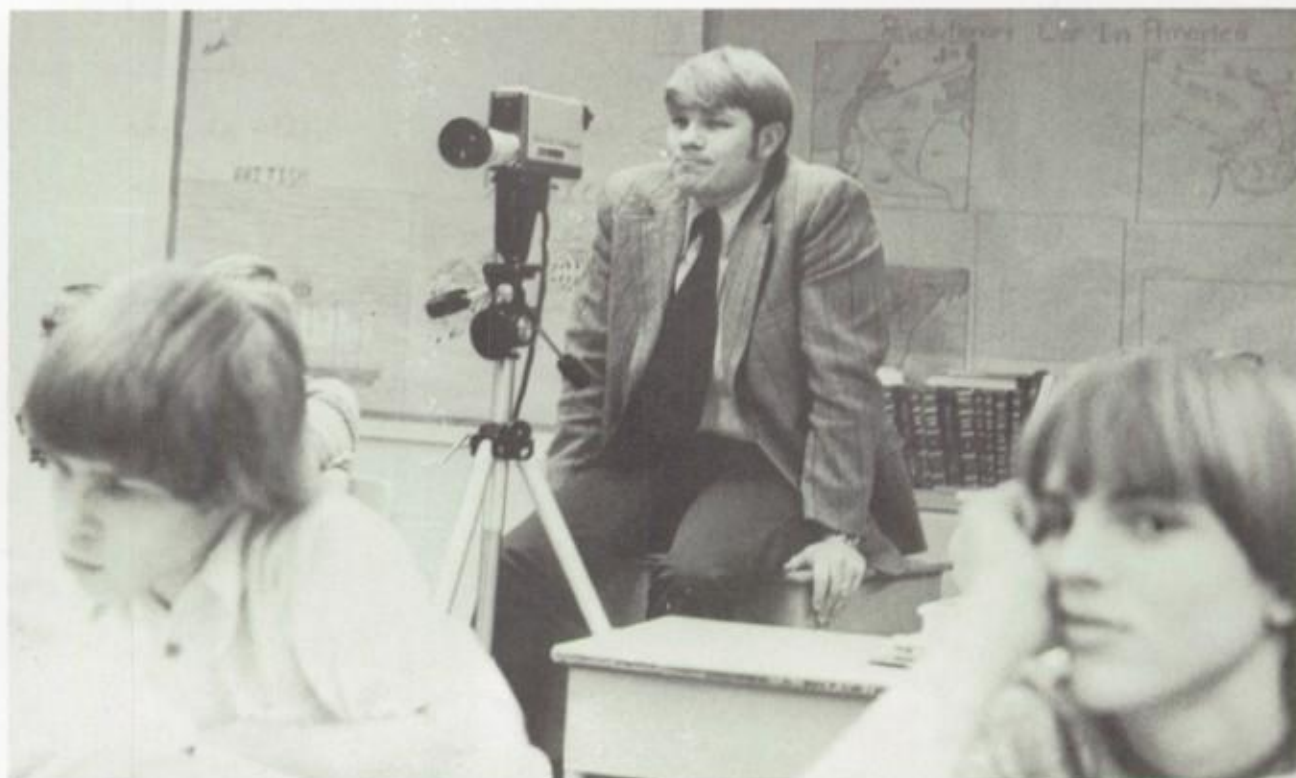

8th graders study their American history.

Kent Brown locates an area on the globe for Julie Dix.

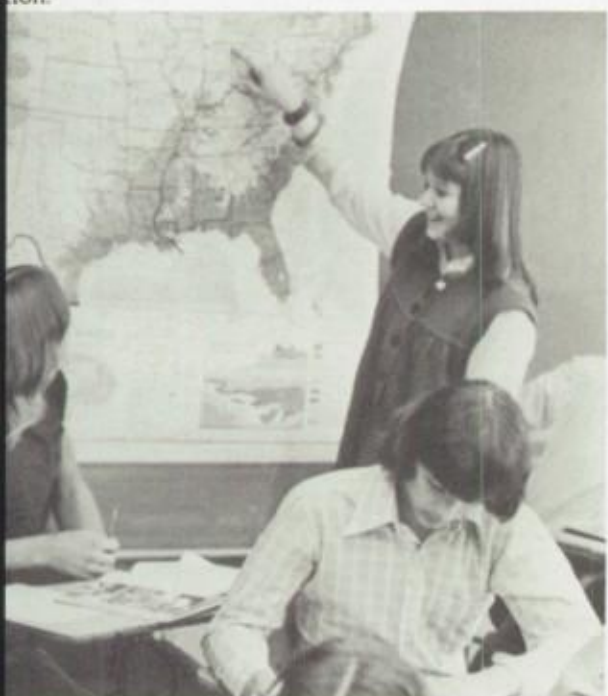

Mr. Hardy is keeping an eye on his class between video taping sessions.

Mr. Hardy looks amused at Dennis Camp and Duane Thompson as they stand on trial during a simulated French Revolution.

Steve Tonneas sits attentively in class.

Michelle Panasuk points out Hicksville on the map in social studies.

The class listens while Mr. Hardy lectures.

Dissection of Dogs, Field Trips

Eighth graders took general science which was used to give them an idea of the many fields of science.

High school students had a choice of biology, chemistry and physics.

Biology consisted of the study of living organisms, such as plants and animals.

Chemistry consisted of the study of the composition, properties of substances and how they reacted when mixed.

Physics consisted of the study of matter and energy.

The teachers that helped these students find and perfect their interests were Mr. Jerry Balser, Mr. Edwin Kaltenbach, and Mrs. Pat Miller.

Among the activities last year were a trip to Chicago for the physics class, and field trips in the area around Hicksville for the general science. The general science class also sponsored a trip to the Museum of Science in Toledo.

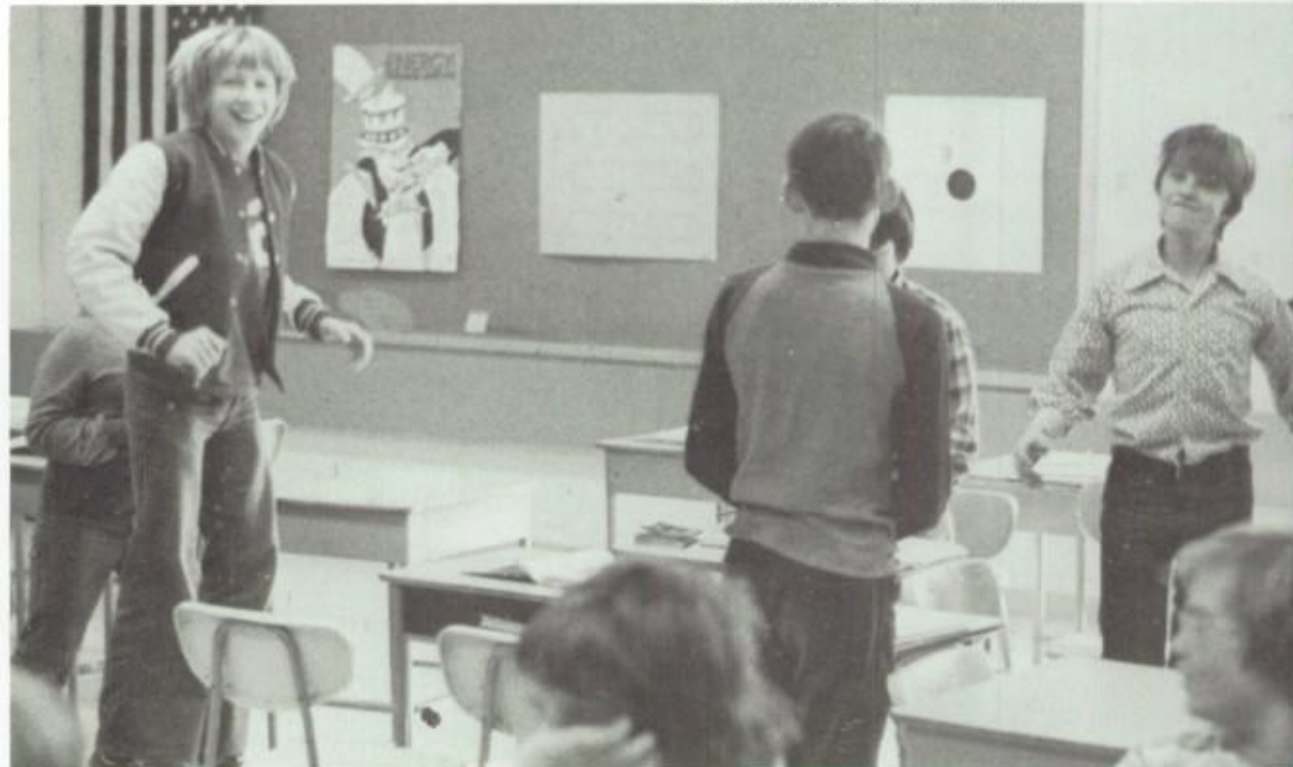

Joel Taylor, Lana Smith, and Guy Mackling work on the dissection of their dog.

Susie Whonsetler gives a book report for physics.

Dan Fowler, Clark Poth, Ken Speed, Brad Mettert, and Ed Turner work on their project.

Jim Anderson does respiratory exercises in general science.

High Light Year

Neil Rohrs works on his project for general science.

Paul Greutman, Pam Zimmerman, Susie Whonsetler, Laura Meyer, and Barb Linder experiment with the pendulum.

Chemistry students work on models of molecules.

Students listen as their guide explains the function of his department.

Jodee Peters prepares to put the finishing touches on her project.

Defiance County Conservation Department sponsored field trips to area farms.

Boys Learn Basic Kitchen Skills

8th Grade Home Ec. was a semester course which included the basic skills of home making.

Home Ec. I was a study of personal, home and family life. The student acquired knowledge and skills on an introductory level as it related to the individual.

Home Ec. II was a continued study of personal home and family life. Attention was focused on the family as a group. Occupational preparations using the knowledge and skills of home making were related.

There was an open sewing lab during the last quarter. Students who desired to sew during their study halls could use the equipment and supplies. Mrs. Pat Miller offered instructions but students were allowed freedom of choice as to pattern and materials.

Bachelor Living, offered to boys only, was a study of consumer education, laundry, pressing, mending clothes, machine sewing, basic nutrition, and basic cooking skills.

Becky Luderman and Cindy Timbrook polish the sewing machine cabinet.

Janie Hayes checks to see if her clothes are dry.

Cooperation is an important factor in Home Ec.

Home Ec. is taken seriously by Darlene Cline.

Kendra Wheeler happily finishes her dishes.

In Home Ec. the girls work on their consumer notebooks.

Students Develop New Skills in Drivers' Training

Ken Boyce shows Joni Slattery the engine of the driver's training car.

Bruce Essex and Scott Peters decorate the bulletin boards with important road signs.

Ken Boyce explains the meaning of a road sign to Rob Thornburg.

Drivers' education students, under the instruction of Mr. George Cherry, participated in actual driving experiences.

Drivers' education was a semester course, offered both semesters and during the summer. Ohio driving laws and safety rules were taught.

Various class activities included going down town to observe traffic violations and preparing a notebook. The notebook consisted of homework papers and newspaper clippings about car accidents.

Parallel parking was done on Saturday mornings this year, providing the students with more time to drive during class. Also, in this way, the instructor was able to devote extra time to students needing it.

Sandy Schlosser gets ready to pull out of the parking on another driving practice session.

Physical Education Keeps Students in Shape

Joni Slattery shows the proper way to walk the balance beam.

Body coordination proves necessary and effective on the horse.

Jim Gambrell returns the serve in volleyball.

Mr. Cromwell coaches Guy Mackling in indoor softball.

The girls invited competition as Mr. Cromwell watches.

New health teacher, Mr. Cherry, explains a portion of health to puzzled students.

Evan Coblentz shows the correct scoring position.

Students realize the importance of keeping fit; and one way to do so is knowing the functions of parts of the body.

Jill Rohrs discovers that "looks are deceiving" as Brad Kemerer describes the functions as vital organs.

Cindy Repp practices her routine on the parallel bars for Phys. Ed. class.

Calisthenics are a daily part of physical education.

Under the instruction of a new health teacher, Mr. George Cherry, the freshman students studied the physical structure of the human body and how it works.

Basic health habits and personalities were studied in group discussions. Film strips were used along with the book to provide visual aid.

Physical education students learned new skills in class this year. Among those were table tennis, badminton and shuffleboard.

Other various activities included volleyball, calisthenics, basketball, speedball, and tumbling.

Calisthenics was strongly stressed by advisors, Mr. Scott Cromwell, Mrs. Jean Siler, and Miss Chery Ester.

Jeff Durre gets his ball after making a basket.

Jean Meyer, Darlene Thiel, Yvonne Morgan, and Gladys Smith await the lunch line

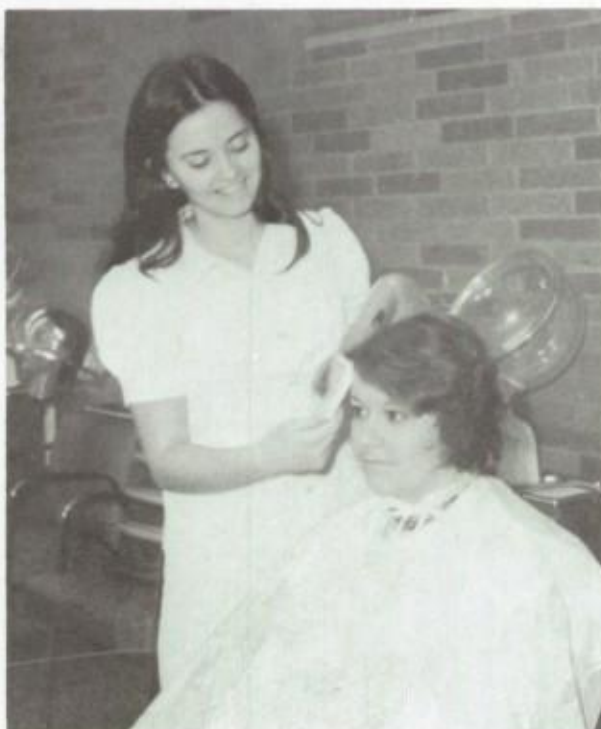

Shirley Haase and Delores Bassett do their daily work.

Penny Miller, Pat Handy, Gail Scott, and Linda Haney work together in data processing.

Dean Damman relaxes between classes.

Twyla Wonderly carefully dries Pam Schooley's hair.

Dawn Dietz does her office work with a smile.

Steve Conley awaits his next class.

Brent Savage finishes his daily work.

4-County Students Are Active

Zoanne Onstott works on her adding machine.

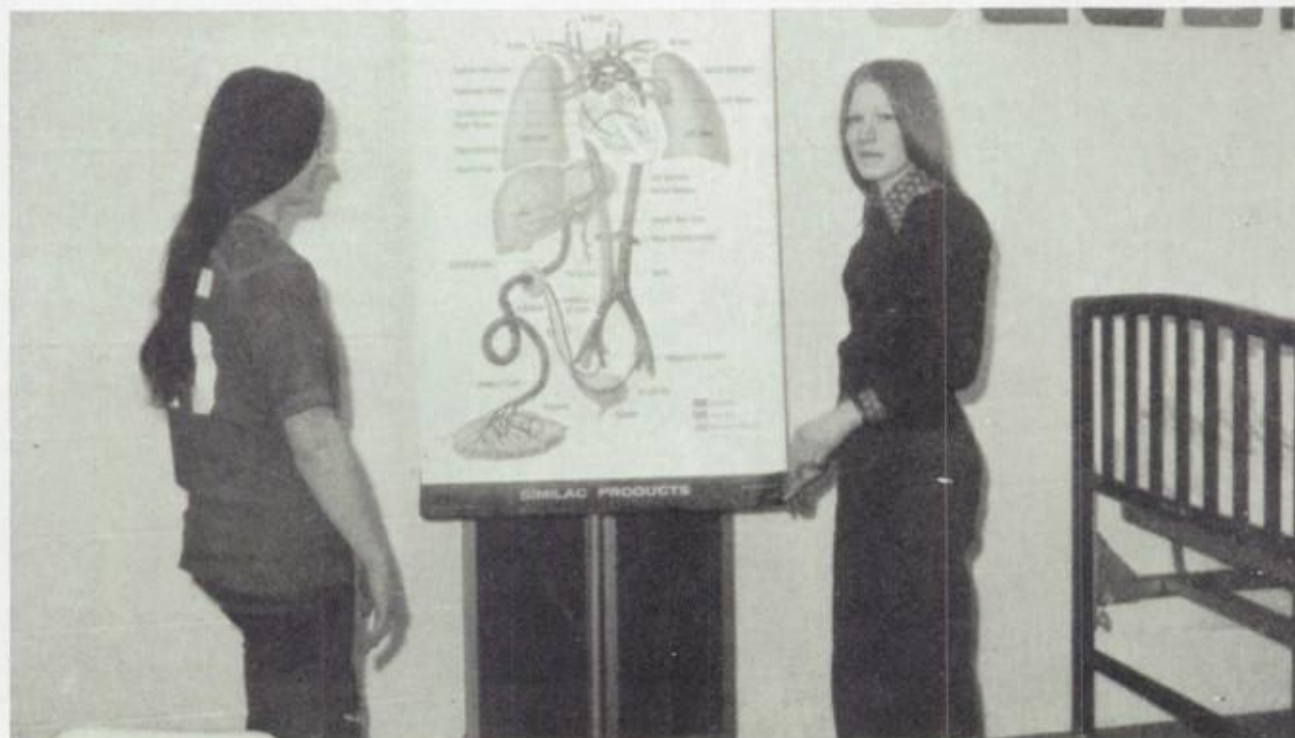

Rick Kimmel concentrates on his machine work.

Rick Thiel repairs a machine.

Kirk Heffelfinger and Warren Van Horn work together while at 4-County.

Janet Timbrook and Mona Beltz study the heart in Health Occupations.
